5 BENEFITS OF MALE MASTURBATION

Masturbation is still seen in some societies as something immoral and harmful. In fact, it is an almost forbidden topic, which is hardly discussed in meetings and is reserved for intimate matters. Nor should we overlook some of the urban legends that circulated around male masturbation: that it caused sterility, blindness or the appearance of pimples. However, this technique produces pleasure and relaxation, among other things. Below, we show you the 5 benefits of male masturbation.

- Prevent prostate cancer

Prostate cancer is the most common type of cancer among men over 70 years of age. In fact, it is increasing, as shown by the fact that it already accounts for 12% of new cancer cases detected in Europe.

Different research has revealed that frequent emptying of the prostate gland, something obtained through ejaculation, can prevent the appearance of prostate cancer. Some studies claim that those who masturbate more than five times a week have a 30% lower chance of developing a prostate tumor.

- Natural relaxant

The most common options to relax are lime blossom, reading, yoga or even pills. But thanks to masturbation we can also obtain this quality, in addition to allowing us to put an end to insomnia. When reaching orgasm, the man's brain secretes hormones such as serotonin and oxytocin, which are associated with sleep.

- More fertility

Contrary to what is often thought, masturbation does not affect semen quality. Quite the opposite, since what it actually achieves is improving the mobility of sperm. This is because residual sperm are released through ejaculation, making the new ones healthier and younger.

- Infection prevention

With each ejaculation, bacteria are expelled. Therefore, the ejaculatory ducts are cleaned, preventing an infection from developing. But in addition to noticing it in the genitals, you will also notice it in other areas of the body.

- Increase happiness

With masturbation we secrete a series of hormones such as dopamine and oxytocin, which are associated with levels of happiness. The brain circuits of satisfaction are activated, improving mood and happiness.

Instructions for use:

Before use, apply a paraben-free water-based lubricant such as the Waterfeel or Nina Kikí brand.

After use, if ejaculation has not occurred inside, clean it with neutral pH soap and warm water, if ejaculation has occurred inside, remove the sleeve, place it under water and clean it with neutral pH soap, let it dry and it will be ready for use again.
