Product description

Introducing the Bathmate Direct Pump Timer, the perfect accessory to revolutionise your Bathmate pumping workouts.

Designed with the user in mind, this innovative timer is waterproof, so you can effortlessly integrate it into your shower or bath routines - it's time to take your pumping workout to the next level!

The main point of the timer is to make sure people are using their pumps for maximum results.

If you asked 100 people to stop after 3 minutes, they would all say a different time, which means people are either underusing or overusing the pump.

The green lights indicate the 3 minutes you should be on the pump and the red lights indicate the time off the pump. This can be repeated 3 times to get the manufacturer's recommendation on pump usage.

Most people don't wear a watch (or glasses!) in the shower, so the lights and beeps make it visual and audible how long it takes to use the pump.

It comes with 2 sized suction cups, 1 to place on the pumps and a larger one if the user prefers it on a shower screen or tiles.

It is a great addition to the purchase of any Bathmate pump.
