Product description

High sensitivity. The body is a map full of sensitive areas, which are stimulated by a light touch. There are infallible points in which touch generates a torrent of sensations... And others in which it provokes pure delirium. Discovering them with the softness of this duster is quite an adventure.

Did you know...

...the skin is the largest organ in the body and is linked to the sense of touch?

... touch is the most basic of the senses, and it only requires closeness and contact to be stimulated?

...the skin is full of sensors ready to activate and turn on the body, and it is as simple as giving a caress?

... the area of the waist and ribs, in the armpits, on the thighs, or on the soles of the feet - areas where caresses are very pleasurable?

...by applying the correct caress to erogenous zones such as the neck, navel, sides, back or thighs, is it also possible to reach climax?

Tip: A complete cuddling session begins with a relaxing bath, and is intensified with tie ties or hiding your eyes behind a mask.
