Product description

For thicker girths and those who prefer to wear their cock rings around both their penis and testicles, this Metallic Electro Scrotal Loop has an adjustable design that provides the bigger size you need for play that incorporates your balls. Made from a non-stretch metallic coil, it has the feel of a metal cock ring with the comfort of an adjustable fit. Place the loop over your shaft and around your testicles then slide the adjuster to tighten the fit.

Wear this uni-polar metallic scrotal loop alongside any other uni-polar electrode and discover the powerful impact of erotic e-stim during masturbation, foreplay, oral sex and sex. The deep throbbing and erotic tingles can even be enough to give you a hands-free orgasm. Adjustable up to 2.75 inches in diameter, this cock loop will fit most men. We recommend using electro-conductive gel for the best-possible experience.

Please note, you will require an electro stimulator to power this item.
