ELECTRASTIM EXO ROGUE PROSTATE MASSAGER

If you need intensity, power, and the kind of electro play that you'll be thinking about for days to come; the new ElectraStim 'Rogue' Prostate Massager is here to exceed all your expectations. The first of a new range of creative asymmetrical designs, the EXO Rogue is made using modern die-casting techniques and wears its clear polycarbonate 'skeleton' on the outside as an integral part of the overall shape. Plus, the clear base offers a window to the action during use for an added level of visual stimulation.

Made using modern die-casting techniques, Rogue is no longer bound by the easier manufacturing process that more traditional symmetrical toys involve. Instead, the curved prostate massager heralds the start of more unique and interesting metal designs by ElectraStim.

Designed for intense prostate stimulation, the heavy weight of Rogue forces your muscles to contract internally to hold the massager in place which not only pushes the bulbous head more firmly against the P-spot but also intensifies the effect of the electro stimulation. As well as conducting the electro sensations more intensely, the mirror finish chrome-plated Rogue also allows you to experiment with temperature play for an extra dimension of pleasure. Thanks to a clever magnetic closure, Rogue also disassembles completely for thorough cleaning.

Users can use the optional 'Focus Sleeve' included with Rogue to insulate the thinnest part of the massager's neck which reduces the surface area internally and increases the level of stimulation you'll experience when it's fully inserted.

A sure-fire winner for anal e-stim enthusiasts, Rogue is an intense and unforgettable experience that further expands the hardcore range of accessories available from ElectraStim.
