Product description

Ideally suited to clitoral stimulation and other surface play, Explorer provides a smooth and controllable level of sensation that encourages exploration of the different erogenous zones. When paired with the KIX Introductory Stimulator in particular, users are able to experience a subtle type of electro-stimulation that showcases the more sensual side of e-stim.

Made from platinum cured silicone (100% phthalate-free), the conductive sleeves can be worn as a pair or combined with another unipolar toy such as a pad, cock ring or urethral sound for a range of different sensations.

For the best sensation, we recommend using some Conductive Gel (or high quality water-based lubricant) on the skin to ensure the best possible contact.

Compatible with any ElectraStim stimulator, the inside of Explorer is insulated so that the wearer won't receive any stimulation through their fingers during play.
