Product description

Recoil is a new addition to ElectraStim's Shape & Play range: a unique unipolar electrode that bends, twists, and holds its shape until you change it. Designed for both external and internal stimulation, Recoil gives you creative control to enjoy personalized electro sensations during solo or partnered play.

Bend Recoil into the desired shape or wrap it around a body part to achieve smooth, conductive contact.

- External play: Wrap it around the shaft, testicles, or base for customized stimulation. Apply conductive gel (sold separately) for optimal contact.
- Internal play: Twist it into an insertable shape and use plenty of water-based lubricant for safe, comfortable use. Always ensure the base is widened or coiled before anal play.

Note: Recoil is a unipolar electrode and must be paired with another unipolar accessory (e.g., a pad or a penis loop) to complete the circuit.

Clean Recoil with warm soapy water or a sex toy cleaner, and dry it with a microfiber cloth. Avoid submerging the connection port in water. Store it in the included microfiber pouch to keep it clean and ready for use.
