Product description

Contoured for comfort and extended wear; the Silicone Fusion Viper Cock Ring is designed to sit comfortably against the pubic bone while hugging your penis and balls during electro play. The raised conductive paths inside the ring sit closely against your skin and transfer the delicious electro stimulation throughout the area for a huge range of tugging, tingling and contracting sensations.

Whether you're wearing Viper for masturbation or play with a partner, this bold cock shield lets you experience the unique sensations of electro sex in a huge range of scenarios. Made from the Fusion range's signature red and black silicone, Viper's striking design lifts and cradles the cock and balls for optimum electro contact and enhanced erections.

Comfortable to wear and unobtrusive during sex; Viper is designed for wear simultaneously around both the shaft and the scrotum for the best stability and sensations during use. The oval shaped opening and flexible silicone allows for a comfortable fit around most sizes of penis, no matter how you choose to wear Viper.

For the best sensations, we suggest using a thin layer of conductive gel at the point of contact between the black raised zones and your skin.

Viper requires any ElectraStim stimulator (sold separately) to experience the electro sensations.
