Product description

The vanilla aroma tantric oil is a combination of vegetable oils: Glycine soja, Prunus amygdalus dulcis oil and Prunus persica kernel oil enriched with Muira Puama and Epimedium.

Tantric massage seeks the connection between the body, mind and spirit. Tantric massage increases the sensitivity of erogenous zones throughout the body, allowing you to experience pleasures at deeper and more subtle levels.
With tantric massage, relaxation and well-being manage to awaken and release sexual blockages, promoting a positive attitude that improves the function of sexual energy. This increases libido and sensitivity of the erogenous zones, intensifying new sensations of pleasure and thus achieving more intense, deeper and longer orgasms.

100 ml container.

Brief history of the components:

- Prunus persica kernel oil: The peach, Prunus persica, comes from a tree that was originally cultivated in China and Asia. Peach oil easily penetrates the epidermis, providing deep hydration and a visible smoothing effect, thanks to the vitamin E it contains. It also provides softening, flexible and regenerating properties that stop the effects of premature aging.
- Prunus amygdalus dulcis oil: Known as sweet almond oil, it has moisturizing properties. It is rich in essential fatty acids, vitamin E, vitamin A and minerals, nourishes and revitalizes the skin.
- Glycine soy oil: It is an ingredient that offers benefits to the skin, keeping it moist and soft. It contains vitamin E (tocopherols) and other antioxidants, which protect the skin from damage caused by free radicals and combat premature aging, reducing the appearance of wrinkles and fine lines.
- Muira Puama: (Ptychopetalum olacoides) Shrub that grows in the Brazilian Amazon area. There are two varieties, the P. Olacoides, which contains a high level of lupeol, and the Brazilian, considered to have a high aphrodisiac power. The effects of this plant include increased libido, pleasant sensations on the skin and toning properties.
- Epimedium Grandiflorum: This plant grows in Asia and has been traditionally used to increase the level of desire and provide natural aphrodisiac components.
- Vanilla aroma: it is soft, warm and comforting, which stimulates the senses and creates a cozy and sensual atmosphere. This environment can help awaken passion and emotional connection between couples.
