Product description

She wanted to explore something new, something that would make her blush and be her own pleasure enjoyment. She laughed when she thought that no one would know she was wearing her Vibrating Petite Wond-Her inside her silky panties. The smooth silicone of the petite vibe felt good against her skin. It actually warmed to her own body temperature, which made it feel like it belonged there in the cleft of her legs. There were times when she forgot she was wearing it until she turned on the vibration. Now, she hardly ever went anywhere without wearing it. It made her feel powerful, complete, and in control of her own satisfaction.

She reached down into her panties and held the on button down to turn on the quiet vibration. Tiny trembles rippled away from her clit like a stone tossed into a pond. She pressed the button again to cycle through seven vibration patterns until she found her favorite. Then she slid her fingers out and just let the pulsing pleasure work its magic on her most intimate region. She thought she would explode. The vibrations rose and flickered, bringing her close to climax. She held her breath and thought about how good it felt. And no one around her knew. She walked until her knees felt weak. She sat down and placed her hand over her mouth – she didn't trust herself not to scream as her orgasm edged closer and closer. Oooohhhhhh! She held her breath as one, two, three waves of powerful back-to-back orgasms filled her with sensual wonder, leaving her warm and wet. This went beyond simple sexual pleasure – this was mystical, special, wonderful.

It's all about Her.
