Product description

Andropenis Gold is the original device from Andromedical and with more than 500,000 satisfied customers it is the laboratory's best-selling penis extender.

Andromedical is a urological laboratory that has been researching medical treatments to enlarge the penis for years.

Currently, we propose a system based on the use of devices called penis extenders.

These extenders, at the forefront of technology in terms of exclusively non-surgical solutions, are presented as a method of penis enlargement to be taken into account for those people who do not wish to undergo surgery.

Thanks to its use, you can obtain an increase in the penis both in erection and in flaccidity and that with complete safety since our CE certified devices have been scientifically tested.

According to studies on penis enlargement carried out with Andropenis, there is a success rate of 97.5% (PubMed) of cases that follow the treatment. For most patients, this results in penile lengthening of up to 4 cm (1.6 in) (PubMed & Nature) and an increase in penile girth (girth) of up to 1.5 cm (0.6 inches) (JSM = PDF).

Although it increases size, it does not do so at the expense of thickness. Quite the contrary, Andropenis stimulates cell growth and multiplication through the natural method of traction and adaptation (PubMed).

Andropenis is registered with the Health Authorities of the European Union, and is classified as a Class I medical device. In addition, Andromedical has the ISO 9001:2008 certificates for Quality Management System and ISO 13485:2003 for Devices. Doctors, proving that Andromedical is safe and reliable.

Likewise, all the studies and trials carried out confirm that, if used correctly, Andropenis is safe.

The penis growth products developed by Andromedical are non-surgical treatments based on the medical principle of traction and the body's natural ability to adapt to it.

How does it work? Applied progressively, continuously, and adapted, the traction force (ranging between 600 and 1,500 grams) stimulates the growth of the corpus cavernosum and the rest of the penile tissues, forcing the internal cells of the penis to extend.

The body adapts to this force by creating new cells between the newly extended tissues.

The results recorded after the application of the traction principle do not only consist of the lengthening of the penis, but also its thickening as shown in studies for penis enlargement

Andropenis is a very easy device to use. Thanks to your pocket instruction manual and our online and telephone medical advice service, you will have everything you need to begin your treatment.
