Product description

Serum for intense anal sex. Forms a protective film on the skin. Its higher concentration further reduces sensitivity, without the use of lidocaine or benzocaine. Reduces sensitivity, not sensation, without numbing! Highly concentrated gel for impulsive anal sex.

pjur BACK DOOR serum was specially developed for intense anal sex and is therefore dosed at a high concentration. Since it does not contain lidocaine or benzocaine, this serum has no numbing effect. Instead, it forms an invisible protective film on the mucous membranes that reduces sensitivity during sex, but not the sensations you experience. This product is compatible with latex condoms. It is not a contraceptive. Perfect for combining with pjur BACK DOOR anal protectors.

Apply one or two doses to the anal area and spread generously. Remove by gently patting after 15 to 20 seconds (do not blot) to prevent the serum from affecting your partner. Suitable for use with latex condoms. pjur silicone serums remain on the skin's surface and are not absorbed. If you wish to rinse the product, you can do so with mild soap and water.

Ingredients: Cyclopentasiloxane, dimethicone, polymethylsilsesquioxane, dimethiconol.

It is important to us to pay attention to the composition of products used in sensitive intimate areas. That's why we at pjur pay special attention to quality and high-quality ingredients. You can find out what Ingredients the product contains:
