Satisfyer Supernova: Double the pleasure with pressure waves and G-spot massage

Our rabbit has received an upgrade in the Satisfyer Supernova: This vibrator adapts to your contours to give you unique pleasure. While the elegantly curved shaft massages your G-spot with penetrating vibrations, the pressure waves from the outside ensure deep clitoral stimulation. Thanks to the silicone flex technology and a chain joint on the inside, you can easily adjust the Satisfyer Supernova so that your pressure wave vibrator hits your hot spot perfectly and transmits its vibrations particularly intensely. The handle is also wide enough to ensure you don't lose your grip. The two powerful motors can also be controlled independently of one other, while 10 different vibration programs and 11 intensities offer countless combination options and varied pleasures.

Satisfyer Supernova: Other benefits of the Rabbit

The Satisfyer Supernova is made from medical-grade silicone, so delicately caresses your erogenous zones from the inside and outside. Its waterproof finish (IPX7) also makes it suitable for use in the shower or bathtub, so you can still enjoy yourself when things get wet. After use, you can easily clean the vibrator with lukewarm water and a toy cleaner. The USB charging cable provided also ensures that it's quickly ready for passionate pleasures whenever you need it again.
